Dear Mr. Chan:

Your organization's designation as a conformity assessment body has been re-instated by the Chinese Taipei's Bureau of Standards, Metrology, and Inspection (BSMI) to test equipment under Appendix B, Phase I of the APEC MRA. This designation covers equipment testing subject to the conditions specified in Standard CNS 13438. The names of all approved laboratories will be posted on the NIST website at <http://ts.nist.gov/mra> under the "APEC."

BSMI will accept test data produced by your organization to verify that the equipment to be imported into Chinese Taipei satisfies their applicable requirements. Please note that your new Lab Code assigned by BSMI is SL2-IN-E-1002R. You must apply this number to all test reports sent to BSMI. Your CAB designation will remain in force as long as your accreditation remains valid for the CNS 13438 standard.

BSMI requested the name of an authorized signatory who is authorized to sign the test reports. According to our records, Mr. John Chan is the authorized signatory for your organization. If this information is incorrect, please provide the correct information immediately to Jogindar (Joe) Dhillon via e-mail at dhillon@nist.gov.

If you have any questions, please contact Jogindar (Joe) Dhillon at 301-975-5521. We appreciate your continued interest in our international conformity assessment activities.

Sincerely,

Mary H. Saunders
